ANDREW JOHNSON.

By special dispatch from Nashville, we are informed of the arrival in that city, yesterday, of President Johnson, under circumstances of unsurpassed nature. All classes of people joined in the tribute, and our correspondent states that this was characteristic of the progress of the great statesman from the hour he left Chattanoogs, and along the whole line of the railroad. He speaks in the Capi-

Jannings, by Lightining, 2-3-2; Kenner's Demi Monde, by curity for person and property, and the Peace," we informed our readers of the only guarantee of public order. A few wise-acred editors who copied this article shook their heads and suggested "sensationalism;" laughed at the bare idea of an empire as the height of absurdity, and expressed themselves wholly incredulous, even as to the publication of the Imperialist. What will these say when we announce that the Imperialist is among the living journals of the country. soon to be followed by another of like character, the Empire, which, in every One Continued Ovation from respect, will give expression to the same views, and advocate the establishment of an Imperial government upon the rules of the once model Republic. The New York Bulletin, the staid and respectable organ of the business classes, in its issue of Monday, in an editorial, "What does it mean?" as an evidence of what must be apparent to all, (a radical change in the public mind as to our form of government,) notices the appearance on Saturday last, of the first number of this Imporialist, and copies from its initial article, the following extract openly advocating the immediate change of our system of government from republic to a monarchy: " For the first time in the history of the Uni ted States an American journal dures to pro-claim as false and permissions, in their Infla-ence, the Democratic dogmas of Popular Soveignly and Equility; and to demand that, or the tuins of this unfortunate Republic shall be reared the first and substantial structure of
